

INSTITUTE FOR FOOD, NUTRITION & HEALTH, RUTGERS UNIVERSITY

New Brunswick, NJ

This state-of-the-art building houses a multi-disciplinary team of faculty focused on ways to improve nutrition from childhood through adulthood. The 60,000 square foot structure houses a broad mix of uses: research labs, dining facilities, student health/clinical services facility, conference center, a preschool and administrative offices. The building is LEED Gold certified.

Keating Partners provided project management services on behalf of ownership that spanned conceptual design, management of the LEED certification process through construction close-out and occupancy.
